CHANGING FRONT.

There are indications that our Democratic friends in the South are about to change front on a very important question. The question of it will soon decay from its own rotabolishing the internal revenue sys- tenness and become extinc'. tem is being discussed, owing to the large amount of surplus revenue coming into the treasury-an amount much larger than is necessary to be even that city not long ago, on "The used in paying off the public debt. Well, we agree with them now. We have held to the opinion always, that as we must have money to pay the public debt, to pay pensioners and to pay the current expenses of the gov ernment, that it was right to collect a large proportion of it on whisky and tobacco, And we think yet, that if whisky and tobacco is to be manufactured and used, that it is a good thing to collect a tax from these articles. And if we do not need the money to pay the debt, it would be a good thing to establish a national system of education and use it for that purpose. Or, if that cannot be done, divide it among the States to be so used. But while we agree with our Democratic friends so far as the tax on these articles is concerned, we are nevertheless sur- An illustrated Weekly--16 Pages. The change is too radical to escape
